

Energy Healing Tools: Cancer

Crystals:

Clear quartz:

Is a great all-rounder crystal that can be used for many things. It can strengthen the immune system, alleviate pain and inflammation, and cleanse and purify the blood.

Rose Quartz:

Cancer is often an issue of the heart such as unresolved grief or lack of forgiveness. This is why rose quartz can be used. It also helps with alleviating stress.

Amethyst:

Helps with grief and pain relief.

Turquoise:

Great for tissue regeneration. It's a great healer so much so that it's been known to perform miracles.

Selenite:

This crystal vibrates at a very high frequency making it a powerful healing crystal that can remove negative energy and recharge the body, mind and spirit. It promotes well-being and a sense of peace and calmness. It clears blocked energy.

Covellite:

Known to help in the treatment of cancer it is a powerful healing stone that can help many physical and mental ailments. Enhances electric flow of energies in the body to aid in treatment and recovery. It has the ability to organise disordered cells. When kept close to the body it can purge toxins and boost organ function.

Gold:

Is a master healer

Citrine :

Boosts the immune system (is created from aged amethyst).

Flower Essences:

Bach Flower Remedies:

Crab Apple:

Helps cleanse and detoxify the body.

Gorse:

For animals that give up due to abuse, neglect, illness, loss of owner, sibling or other animal. Helps to improve attitude during chronic illness. Good for animals who have been in a kennel (or have been restricted) for a long period of time.

Hornbeam:

For weak animals with an inability to cope due to weariness or tiredness

Impatiens:

For emotional or physical pain

Mustard:

Good for depressed animals and those with no get up and go. Helps with chronic illness and chronic problems

Olive:

Can be used for animals that are drained, fatigued or lack zest. Helps restore energy. This exhaustion can be physical or mental and from illness, allergies, or other stress

Star f Bethlehem:

For shock, trauma and grief. Used when comfort is needed after the effects of any emotional or physical traumas. Clears out past cellular memory

Sweet chestnut:

For extreme mental anguish. Good for increasing mental and physical energy to deal with any long ordeal

Wild Rose:

Used for animals that are resigned or apathetic. Older animals and shelter animals that have lost the will to live

NB: Many of the Bach remedy flower essences have similar healing effects. Use your own inner guidance to select the right essence for your pet. They can do no harm. If an essence you select is not required by your pet it will have no effect. Finding the correct essence may require some trial and error

There are many flower essence providers with websites to help guide you towards an essence you feel will most beneficial for your pet.

For flower essences made specifically for animals:

<https://anaflora.com/essences/f-essences/individ.html>

FES has distributors world wide:

<https://www.fesflowers.com/international-distributors/>

As a student of Lynn McKenzie, I have a range of flower essence available to me at a frequency level that are not available to purchase. The following essences are a list of the ones that would be most beneficial in helping to release cancer from the energy field as well as boost overall well-being:

Cancer Clear:

Created to boost the immune system, and to support our animals companions in releasing the energy of cancer on physical, emotional, mental and spiritual levels. This essence is also helpful in clearing the emotional energy, related to diagnosis, absorbed from guardians

Purification:

Created to assist our animal companions with detoxification, on all levels. Recommended for exposure to physical, emotional and environmental toxins, as well as any other conditions that may require detoxification

Soaring Spirit:

Created to restore and rebuild the spirit of animals such as those who have suffered extreme injuries or illnesses

Health and Vitality:

Created to assist in maintaining a happy, healthy, higher frequency body, mind and spirit. It's great for helping to maintain a strong vitality level, promoting clear flow of natural body function, encouraging emotional calm and in helping to prevent viral infections or bacterial growth

Colour Therapy:

Green: rebuilds muscles and tissues, cleanses the system and balances cell growth

Turquoise: is a great colour to help with pain and restore vitality

Blue: is calming and helps to build vitality. Fights infections

Violet: detoxifies, purifies and strengthens the immune system

Indigo: shrinks tumors, purifies blood, cleanses the system and aura
Colour light therapy works best where coloured light is directed subtly towards the animal eg to one corner of bedding (allowing the animal to move away by choice when necessary). If colour light therapy is not possible then coloured items such as blankets, cushions, bedding, clothes, toys, feed bowls, collars etc will help.

Chakra Healing:

The Chakras that will require clearing and balancing will be unique for every patient, however, issues of the heart are a common aspect of cancer therefore requiring the heart chakra to be cleared and balanced

Chakras located near where the cancer is located will most likely require clearing and balancing as will the chakras associated with the body system and/or organs affected by cancer

Not sure where to start? Take the guess work out of your pets energetic healing. I am able to connect with your pet in a way that will ensure he or she gets exactly what they need in the order that they need it in

Contact me via email or message me via my Facebook page